Governor Chris Christie
Office of the Governor
P.O. Box 001- State House
Trenton, New Jersey 08625

Dear Governor Christie,

We, the undersigned 43 organizations, representing parents, school employees, students, and healthy schools advocates, write to ask you to take immediate action to ensure the health and safety of students, teachers, and school staff.

On average, New Jersey's 2,500 school buildings are 50 years old and are four times more densely populated than office buildings.<sup>1</sup> Age, overcrowding, and deferred maintenance strain ventilation, heating, and electrical systems, which, in many cases, result in dangerous conditions that threaten the health of students and staff and impede students' learning. Everyday, students in New Jersey are exposed to hazardous conditions like mold, lead, PCBs, and poor indoor air quality resulting from decades of delayed repairs and the failure to start and complete new school construction projects.

On May 24, 2011, the New Jersey Department of Education, together with the New Jersey Schools Development Authority, requested that each SDA district (formerly known as Abbott Districts) identify and describe any potential emergent conditions that may exist in the district's school facilities. The DOE regulations<sup>2</sup> define an emergent condition as "so injurious or hazardous that it causes an imminent peril to the health and safety of students and staff." In response, school districts submitted more than 700 applications for emergent projects to be reviewed by the DOE on an "expedited basis" as required by the regulations. In the spring of 2012, a mere seventy-six of the applications were approved. Now, over a year later, the SDA has completed only a few of these projects and has not committed to complete the remaining projects by the beginning of the 2013-2014 school year. This is unacceptable. Allowing repairs to wait for over two years unnecessarily exposes students and staff to unsafe and unhealthy conditions. We request that you ensure all approved emergent projects be completed by this September -- before our children and staff return to school.

Communities across the state remain in desperate need of functioning, modern, and safe school facilities. Every day our students and those entrusted to teach and care for them, enter buildings that are unhealthy and unsafe. If we expect to have thriving schools and effective learning environments, these emergent repairs must be addressed.

While the SDA has met with us several times over the past year and engaged in informative dialogues, it is clear to us that the SDA needs to change the way it does business. They must develop procedures that are accountable and transparent to the people who work and learn in these buildings. Parents, students, and school employees deserve procedures that ensure timely repairs and construction, so that all our schools are healthy and safe. All emergent repair projects should be addressed as priorities with clearly delineated timelines for completion.

Governor Christie, we ask that you live up to your commitment to education by making safe, healthy, and modern public schools a priority. The $3.9 billion approved by the Legislature for school facility work was to ensure that every student in New Jersey would attend schools in safe and healthy learning environments. The SDA works under your direction and we therefore send this letter to ask for your immediate attention to our children and the schools they attend.

Please reply to Mo Kinberg, Campaign Organizer, NJ Work Environment Council, 142 West State Street, Third Floor, Trenton, NJ 08608 (or via email at mkinberg@njwec.org). Thank you very much for your consideration.
